Another World War in the Making

Dispatches give the distressing news that the long expected conflict between Mussolini and his valiant millions and Ethiopia is a fact; that fighting has begun. A world war was fought some years ago to end ALL wars for ALL time. Fought over pretty much the same situation. The kaiser wanted more power and more land. Mussolini wants, at least, more land—needs it badly for his growing country and insists that Italy got a dirty deal when what little that was left from the last war was divided. Neighboring countries, having all the land they need, shout "Peace, Peace."

But at least one fact is evident—the War to end War was just another war, and as long as there are nations of different temperaments, there will be wars to come.

Italy undoubtedly has grounds for complaint against Ethiopia and also just complaints against the division of land—but there is no escaping the fact that after all, war does not settle anything. In one way or another, Mussolini will probably find Italy fighting the rest of the world with her back to the wall, and then, when exhausted, will probably take what is given her.

Town Rivalry Hard to Eliminate

The Peninsula Convention and Tourist bureau is an organization having the very laudable aim of bringing people to the peninsula, and, having behind it men of prominence and ability, will undoubtedly accomplish a great deal in the way of publicity for the peninsula as a playground.

While it is a peninsula organization, at least one man, of no little judgment and influence, questions the practicability of an organization representing the three cities. Jean Juillard thinks that each town on the peninsula should operate its own tourist bureau and points out many differences of interests and opinions. And Mr. Juillard is quite right as to Carmel, for it is always very evident that Carmel regards any friendly advances from Monterey with suspicion. There is no way that rivalry between towns can be prevented, and one is very apt to think the other is getting the better of the deal.

Help the Youngsters Celebrate Hallowe'en

The Monterey Civic club is to be congratulated on the idea of a community Hallowe'en party to take care of the exuberant spirits of the young people in their time-honored custom of making whoopee on this date. And some Carmel organization should make an effort to direct the youngsters of this community in the big annual spree. It would be great fun for the older heads and sane fun would be better for the young people, possibly saving some of them the embarrassment of appearing in court, or serious offenses may be eliminated.

MISS ACKROYD SELLING

STOCK AT HALF PRICE

Miss E. M. Ackroyd who purchased the Pinafore Play House about six months ago, has taken the new goods which she added to the stock, to the Leidig building on Dolores and is selling it at half price for her creditors.

To the garments and accessories for children, she has added a few choice pieces from her personal possessions—silverware, mirrors, electrical appliances and antiques—which she is selling at remarkably low prices.

Although not a pioneer in Carmel, Miss Ackroyd has won the respect and love of many here through her fair and square dealings with her creditors and the public, and her cheery personality as well as the bargains she offers, brings many people into her store.

OPEN HOUSE AT FOREST

HILL SCHOOL SATURDAY

Many friends of Forest Hill school responded to invitations sent out last week to attend open house at the school. Saturday afternoon. The visitors were shown through the lovely school and an idea given them of the work accomplished with the students in this institution.

Presiding at the tea table were Baroness Nugent de Delvill and Mrs. Frank Hilton, two patrons of the school. They were assisted in serving by pupils of Forest Hill school, who had also prepared the tea under the direction of their domestic science teacher, Mrs. Ida Patterson.

MASONIC CLUB PETITIONS TO BE IN BUSINESS DISTRICT

Petitions are being circulated this week to have the property of the Masonic club between Seventh and Eighth streets on Lincoln included in the business district of Carmel. For several months local Masons have been forming a local chapter of the Masonic Lodge and since one of the requirements is a lodge hall that is soundproof and at least two stories above the ground, last fall the Club house was raised a story and changes made to conform to Masonic Grand Lodge requirements. At the time the building was raised the lower part of the building was not finished and it is now desired to finish and fit up the basement with a dining hall and kitchen so that it may be used for social gatherings but unfortunately, the city ordinance prohibits this work on the contention that it increases the size of the building.

The only way the work can be completed is to include the property in the business district, and to make this change it is necessary to secure the consent of fifty per cent of the property owners located within a radius of four hundred feet. F. O. Robbins is circulating the petitions and it is believed will have the necessary number of signers within a few days.

The Masonic order of course, operates without profit and the cause is such a worthy one that every one in the area affected should give the movement his fullest cooperation.

CARMEL WOMAN'S CLUB TO HOLD LUNCHEON MEETING

Members and prospective members of the Woman's Club, Carmel, are looking forward with pleasant anticipation to Monday's meeting, which will mark the opening of the 1935-1936 season.

A luncheon at one o'clock at Pine Inn will precede the program, and reservations for the luncheon may be made by calling Mrs. William Heathorne, Carmel 1151-W.

The program will be heard in the west dining room at the Inn, where all meetings will be held throughout the coming year. The Monte Verde street entrance will be used by the club.

Those present next Monday will have the pleasure of hearing Mrs. Carlo Suto Morbio, who was so enthusiastically received here last year when she sang before the club.

Mrs. Maude DeYoe has returned home from San Francisco where she accompanied Mrs. Rose DeYoe who left by the Malolo for Honolulu to make her future home.

Colonel and Mrs. Joseph K. Partello of Washington D.C., are spending a month in Carmel. The colonel is adjutant general of the National Guard.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning for Otis G. Vance, Pacific Grove, who passed away Wednesday of last week. Services were conducted by Rev. William V. Morgan, pastor of the Grove Baptist church.

CARMEL WOMAN'S PLAY RECEIVED ENTHUSIASTICALLY

Featured by witticisms and a nicely woven plot, "Modern Daze," by Katherine Brocklebank, was received with great applause at its premier performance at the Filmarte Theatre last Friday evening.

The play, presented by Frances Huddins and the author, was the third successful play written by Mrs. Peterson and those who heard it predict for it a long life.

The story was built around the modern laxity in morals among the married people and its effect upon the younger generation.

Mrs. Peterson was fortunate in persuading Lucile Culver, professional now returned, to take the part of Mrs. Gregory Lockwood, and Ronald Telfer, well known San Francisco actor, to take the role of Templeton Bancroft. These two, supported by a well chosen cast of Carmel amateurs, carried the plot through to a successful climax.

Janet Large surpassed any of her previous work and carried through like a professional, while Gertrude Bardarson, as the Swedish maid, was perfection itself in her efforts to vamp "Yenkins," ably portrayed by Gordon Knoles of Pacific Grove. Elizabeth Todd as the innocent young daughter was very convincing and carried her audience with her in her grief at having found that her parents were not the perfect beings she thought them. George McMenamin, as Gregory Lockwood, was a fine contrast to Loring Lockwood, his son, and William Lingley, the "futurist," were all excellently cast.

Peter Graham Harnden, a new director to enter Carmel's dramatic circles, proved his ability by his clever handling of the play throughout.

The producers were also fortunate in securing the services of Franklin Dixon, formerly with Belasco, who designed and executed the scenery.

With such a play, pointing out a moral without mawkish sentimentality, it is freely predicted that Mrs. Peterson will become known as one of the best playwrights of the times.

WOMEN INTERESTED IN SCOUTING ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Ralph Coote, Carmel, was hostess Thursday afternoon to leaders of the Girl Scout movement on the peninsula, when she presided at an informal tea. Plans were made for attendance at the National Girl Scout convention being held in San Francisco this week. Present at the tea were: Mrs. Jean Henry Large, Mrs. Gabriel Burnette, Mrs. Pat Huddins, Mrs. James Gillingham, Mrs. Phil S. Rose, Mrs. James W. Millington, Mrs. Frank Hutton, Mrs. William M. O'Donnell, Mrs. Millard Klein, Mrs. T. V. Van Ess, Mrs. Sifton Christian, Mrs. Clyde Zumwalt, Miss Ruth Huntington, Miss Vida Jacks, and Miss Kathleen Lydon, director of Peninsula Girl Scouts.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ramsey, Monterey, are happy over the arrival of a son, Ray, Jr., who was born September 23. The young fellow weighed 8 pounds and six ounces. This is the couple's second child, a sister, Diane Shirley, also welcoming the newcomer.

PENINSULA PUBLICITY PLANS DISCUSSED AT MEETING

Suggestion for special rates on the Southern Pacific, development of fishing and hunting facilities on the peninsula, improvement of the water front at Monterey, and many other things were brought before the meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Publicity bureau last Thursday evening at San Carlos hotel.

Many prominent business men of the peninsula spoke at the meeting and enthusiasm ran high. Statistics were read by V. V. Adams, secretary of the Monterey chamber of Commerce, showing that each tourist spends an average of $7 a day. He stated that other cities have been conducting well organized campaigns to secure conventions.

Jean Juillard, of the San Carlos hotel, suggested that Monterey citizens should become more "Monterey minded" and quit trying to work in the interests of Pacific Grove, Del Monte and Carmel, but others felt that the whole peninsula should be united in the effort to make known the attractiveness of this section as a resort and for convention grounds.

Through their own efforts, the Del Monte hotel has conventions booked as far ahead as 1938.

GEORGE ARLISS SEEN IN 'THE IRON DUKE'

In his latest starring vehicle, "The Iron Duke," the British historical drama in which he portrays Wellington, playing Sunday at the Filmarte Theatre, George Arliss frequently stresses the Duke's satirical trend, notably in his scenes with the antagonistic Duchess of Angouleme, played by Gladys Cooper. This ironical vein can also be traced in Wellington's correspondence, as in the following case of a letter to a London friend, in which he raps his journalistic critics over the knuckles:

"We made a sad mistake in the beginning of this campaign, which may yet prove fatal to us. In the beginning all the worst generals were appointed to command our armies and all our best generals to edit the newspapers. As you know, I have planned some campaigns and fought quite a few battles. I have given the work all the thought I could, and sometimes when my plans were completed, so far as I could see, they seemed perfect. But when I have fought them through, I have discovered defects and occasionally wondered I did not see some of the faults in advance. When it was all over I found, just by the simple process of reading a newspaper, that those 'best editor' generals saw all the defects plainly from the start. Unfortunately, they did not communicate their knowledge to me until it was too late to correct my ignorance!"

This outstanding Arliss vehicle has come to local picture fans following its initial remarkable ovation in London where its world premiere was graced by the presence of His Royal Highness The Prince of Wales, a mark of exceptional distinction; and its later notable American debut at the Radio City Music Hall in New York City.

Mrs. Mary F. Burritt has returned to her Carmel home after visiting with her daughter in New York since last May.

Mayor Appoints Committee to Study Dolores Street

All Carmelites who are interested in the grading of Dolores street so that it may be made safe for fire apparatus are urged to meet with a committee of five next Wednesday, October 9, from 8 to 10 a. m., to make a thorough survey as to what shall be recommended under the WPA. The committee comprises Paul Mercurio, Helen Ware, Dr. Haasis, Francis Whitaker and Frank Cole, and they will meet at the Forge in the Forest promptly at the hour decided upon, as noted.

"This is tremendously important," said Councilman John Catlin, mayor pro tem at Wednesday night's meeting of the council.

Dr. Craig requested permission to hang a sign in front of his office, and the Golden Bough Restoration committee asked to

MRS. HEFLING MOVES TO NEW LOCATION

After four and one-half years in the Seven Arts building on Lincoln street, Mrs. Florence L. Hefling has moved her stock of old glass, china and plate to her home across from La Ribera hotel, Seventh and Lincoln.

Mrs. Hefling features Early American stuff and many interesting stories she has to tell of climbing attic stairs, digging into old cupboards and like stunts in search of valuable, but neglected, pieces. A recent acquisition was attained by scrambling up narrow straight steps to a barn loft, but it was worth the effort for cleaned of its accumulated covering of dust and cob-webs, it proved to be a very lovely bowl trimmed in red, with a sparkling clear glass handle.

"This," Mrs. Hefling told a Sun representative, as she displayed an old pewter jug, "is one of my valued possessions. It is 175 years old and was brought out to Montana in the early days by Father Ravalli, who used it as a baptismal font in his missionary work among the Indians." Mrs. Hefling has tried to price this jug so that no one will buy, but someone is going to surprise her one of these days.

Two other of the many attractive things at the Whatnot are a painting taken from the wall of the inner shrine of Llama temple in Peking, and secured by her daughter from a priest, and a water color of an Indian, made by E. S. Paxson, one of Custer's scouts.

Truly, the Whatnot is an interesting place, and Mrs. Hefling is extending a cordial invitation to those who love beautiful things to call at her new location and see them.

Readers of the November issue of "Movie Mirror" were interested to see a picture of Dick Bare, in a group of Hollywood's younger set. Carmel now claims Mr. Bare, he being the popular manager of Filmarte theatre.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at 9:30 for Victor Dias, who passed away at his home in Santa Rita street, Carmel, Thursday night. Burial was made in the Catholic cemetery at Monterey.

hang the old Golden Bough theatre sign in its former location. Mr. Kuster stated that the sign is more than 400 years old and for 235 years hung in one place in Switzerland. The letter suggested that the sign was really a part of the Carmel traditions. Permission was granted.

Plans for the new fire house are going ahead, Mayor Catlin stated, and will be taken up by the firemen at their meeting tonight.

Two ordinances were given their second reading and ordinance 160 in regard to leasing dump grounds at Pratteo was given first reading.

A communication was read from the Pacific Gas and Electric Company stating it would bear the expenses of publication for an ordinance pertaining to a franchise and would begin immediately paying the percentage required on gross business.

An ordinance was suggested changing the present laws in regard to signs so that the police department may decide without difficulty when a sign is or is not in conformance with the law.

Councilman Burge was given power to sign a contract for gasoline for the coming four months, thereby affecting a saving to the city.

"I am in favor of saving every cent we can," said Councilman Catlin, since we must need money to be able to take up some of the WPA projects wherein the government will furnish 80 per cent of the costs."

The subject of a grader was again discussed and will be reported upon by Street Commissioner Burge at the next meeting, which will be held October 16.

RED CROSS HOPES

TO EXCEED QUOTA

Activities at the local Red Cross headquarters are increasing daily as the executives of Carmel Chapter prepare for the forthcoming Roll Call which is scheduled to begin upon Armistice Day, November 11th. A volunteer organization under the leadership of Mrs. John Herbert Morse will take the field to enroll members under the Red Cross banner. Carmel stands rather unique in the Red Cross work as it has taken the responsibility for caring for the unfortunate and bringing home relief through the only local relief agency in the field.

The Pacific area has established a goal of 600,000 members this year and the quota for Carmel has been placed at 400. However the organization feel that many more than the quota can be enrolled.

The National Red Cross has been called upon this past year to meet a number of unusual situations, says the Red Cross Courier, "It has proved again its extraordinary flexibility. There were the dust storms in the Middle West. The Red Cross sent in a large staff of nurses, opened five temporary hospitals, and fought an epidemic of measles and bronchial affections. Several hundred people in another communicable trench mouth. Here dentists and nurses were supplied by Red Cross. The battle against pellagra, started by Red Cross in 1927, continues unabated, and several thousand people are always under care and observation through the co-operation of our Chapters. Diptheria immunization, on a county wide basis has been another broad activity this year.

Disaster relief reached a new peak in the last twelve months. With floods, cloudbursts, hail storms etc. a great strain was placed upon the National staff and many local chapters. Twice within a month the Florida hurricanes have called forth extra effort.

The Red Cross has been increasingly drawn into the services of the various Federal emergency agencies.

Carmel chapter has a Disaster relief committee with Mr. Byington Ford as chairman. Complete details have been worked out by this committee for emergency relief and there is a special fund available for use.

Miss Phyllis Meadows, of Carmel Valley, has returned home from a delightful visit of one month in the southern part of the state.

Pacific Grove firemen were called out Sunday night to extinguish a fire in an unoccupied building on the Grove-Carmel highway. A paint can full of kerosene and a pile of clothing saturated with the oil were found, lending support to the belief that the blaze was incendiary. Roger Lee told officers that he had seen two men about the place that afternoon, who had been acting suspiciously.

Although Monterey Elks came out third in the recent ritualistic contest held in Santa Monica, the difference between the three high teams was so little that they might almost have been declared a tie.

After spending a year visiting her brother in Sweden, Miss Nora Harnden has returned to Carmel and is making her home with Miss Edith Smythe.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hyer have returned to their home in San Francisco after a two weeks' stay in Carmel. Mr. Hyer is on the staff of the San Francisco Examiner.

Two paintings were hung at the Monterey library last week-end, one of the fishing craft, by Myron Oliver, Monterey, and the other by Capt. H. L. Harris, Jr., of Pacific Grove, showing a Carmel Valley Sunset. These may be seen in the reference room.

of this world... Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father.
Who hath ears to hear, let him hear" (Matt. 13: 38, 40, 43).

heavenly places." (p. 535).

LA MOBILIZZAZIONE GENERALE IN ITALIA

Nel modo veramente compatto ed entusiastico in cui il popolo italiano ha risposto all'appello della Patria ha mostrato al mondo quale sia la potenza compatta dell'Italia Fascista.

Mai negli annali della storia si era visto un popolo, un esercito tanto possente che pieno di abnegazione segua ciecamente gli ordini del suo condottiero: del suo Duce.

Milioni e milioni di uomini, donne e fanciulli hanno fatto a gara per trovarsi fra i primi a rispondere all'appello.

Il grido d'allarme delle sirene, lo scolio delle trombe e delle campane ha trovato il popolo italiano pronto ad accorrere in difesa della Patria.

Piccoli e grandi, uomini e donne sono accorsi con slancio ammirevole di patriottismo. Tutte le organizzazioni civili e militari hanno formato un'esercito interminabile e nella folla del loro sguardo leggevasi facilmente il coraggio e l'abnegazione caratteristici del soldato italiano.

La speditezza e la precisione con cui è stata portata a compimento questa grande e superba dimostrazione ha mostrato con quanto ardore l'intera nazione obbedisce gli ordini del suo capo supremo: Del Duce il quale appoggiato da tutto un intero popolo in armi pronto al sacrificio marcia compatto verso qualunque essi siano i destini della Patria.

Sequiamo dunque fiduciosi gli eventi, sicuri che le nostre Legioni, come le Legioni Romane di Cesare, guidate da un condottiero quale è il Duce, che ha reso l'Italia d'oggi ammirabile e temibile riusciranno vittoriose.
